- The Fund’s long exposure to Bitcoin was the primary performance driver. Over the period, the Bloomberg Bitcoin Index returned approximately 20.58%.
- Weekly covered calls are a primary component of the strategy and a secondary contributor to performance relative to the price of Bitcoin. The strategy involves selling out-of-the-money (OTM) call options on Bitcoin ETFs but only enough to sufficiently generate 2% in monthly option premiums. The call options are generally 5-10% OTM, which can limit upside participation on the covered portion of the Fund when Bitcoin prices exceed strike levels, but can enhance returns when the Bitcoin price change is at or below the strike level.
- The Fund’s weekly option writing allows for more frequent premium capture and contributed positively to the NAV return of 23.27% as of September 30, 2025.
